Did you know?

If a public body tells you that it is going to act in a certain way, the courts interpret this as a promise, and may regard it as an abuse of power (and therefore unlawful), for the body to subsequently change its mind or break its promise to you. This is one of the basic principles of public law, the rules that govern how public bodies should behave.

What can you do about this?

NAVCA and the Public Law Project have come together, with support from the Big Lottery Fund, in an innovative venture to help voluntary and community organisations understand the principles and framework of public law.

Who should attend?

Members of management teams and development workers from LIO's, front line organisations who have little or no interface with LIO's.
